The Real Estate Club Completes It's First Case Competition

This past week, the Real Estate Club held the finals of their semester-long case competition. A lot of time and hard work was put into pulling the competition together, especially by Salvatore Zotti (junior, finance major).

The winning presentation was made by Nicholas Dinoia (senior, finance major), Scott Martin (senior, finance major), and Sean Ferrie (junior, accounting major). Congratulations!

Coming Fall 2024

POL318 - Politics of Community Change
Tues/Fri, 11:00 am - 12:20 pm
Dr. Kate Foster, Professor of Political Science

Places change continually. How they change is not inevitable. What and who drives community activities, development, and quality of life? Law? Culture? Economics? Social Forces? Bias? Politics? Power?

POL 318 Politics of Community Change explores these questions. We draw on public data, a rich scholarly and professional literature on urban change, class discussions, field work, public presentation, and independent analysis. You will never experience a place the same way again.

This course is open to all majors! Students interested in real estate and economics may be particularly interested in this course!

Student Representative Needed!

The School of Business DEI Committee has an opening for a student representative for the 2024-2025 academic year. The Committee is comprised of faculty, staff and students. This is open to both undergraduate and graduate students. Meetings will be held once a month on the first Wednesday of the month at 10:00 am (subject to change with faculty teaching schedules). The commitment to the Committee will be at least one year. Applications are being accepted until April 25, 2024.

For more information on the representatives responsibilities & the application, scan the QR code.
