ABOUT ME

Aneta Sieminski graduated from the School of Business in 2023 with a B.S. in Management, with an Emphasis in Human Resources Management and double minors in Spanish and Information Systems & Technology. She is currently an Analyst in the Human Resources Talent Accelerator Program (TAP) at Accenture in New York City. While at TCNJ, Aneta was President of the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM), held leadership roles in Beta Gamma Sigma and the School of Business CEO Peer Mentor Program, and worked as a Research Assistant for the Chairs of the Accounting & Information Systems and Management Departments.

ASK ME

Why did you choose to attend TCNJ School of Business?

“I chose to attend TCNJ School of Business due to the strong academics, small class sizes, and ability to develop close relationships with faculty and classmates.”

Can you share some fun facts about yourself?

I am trilingual (Polish, Spanish, and English) and has been playing the violin and piano since I was seven and ten, respectively.

Can you share one thing you took away from the School of Business that prepared you for what you are doing now?

“The emphasis placed on presentations, group projects, and writing in all my classes at TCNJ prepared me to think critically, collaborate effectively with others, and confidently communicate with senior leaders.”

Where has your career path taken you since graduating?

“I interned at Accenture during summer 2022 and received a full-time offer to join the firm before returning to campus for my senior year. I am currently part of TAP, which is a two-year rotational program designed to develop the next generation of HR leadership at Accenture, by immersing analysts in various areas of Accenture's business, globally and domestically, in order to develop strong leadership skills, business acumen, and HR capabilities. I was in a client-facing strategy consulting role for my first rotation and am currently on the Global Talent Strategy team for Accenture Song, which is the world's largest tech-powered creative group.”

What is one piece of advice you would give to our current students?

“Be kind to others and take time to build relationships with those that you find interesting or inspirational. Work hard and always say “yes” to opportunities, even if you don't feel completely ready for them — you will learn from the challenges and have great stories to later share with others.”

If the School of Business had a mentoring program, would you be interested in being a mentor?

“Yes!”
